FT Weekend - Tell us your thoughts and win a prize

Dear Barak,

Can you spare us fifteen minutes to help us make FT Weekend better?

We are always striving to improve the products and services that we produce for our readers. We are currently interested in learning more about your weekend reading and leisure activities. We also would like to ask you about a new FT Weekend product. Whether you read FT Weekend frequently, or less so, we'd still like to hear from you!

The link below will take you to an online survey that should take about fifteen minutes to complete. All respondents who do so by 27th January 2013 may enter into a prize draw from which one winner will win £500 (or local equivalent). Click here for terms and conditions.

Start the survey.

Any information you provide will be processed according to the terms of our privacy policy. You will receive no marketing communications from us as a result of taking part in this survey. Your details will not be passed onto any other company. All data will be used in aggregated statistical format only and not linked back to your name.

Thanks very much for your participation.

With very best wishes,

Caroline Daniel
FT Weekend Editor
